READING SKILLS

Reading skill is the ability to derive meaning from a written text. This means that a person with this skill can make sense of the written information. And he/she possesses sound reading comprehension skills. Reading is an imperative skill that drives long-term success. In fact, reading ability and the knowledge to understand the written text accurately makes way for developing more skills and related linguistic abilities.

COMMON TYPES OF PROBLEMS IN READING

- To decode a word
- Phonological awareness
- Comprehension
- Fluency

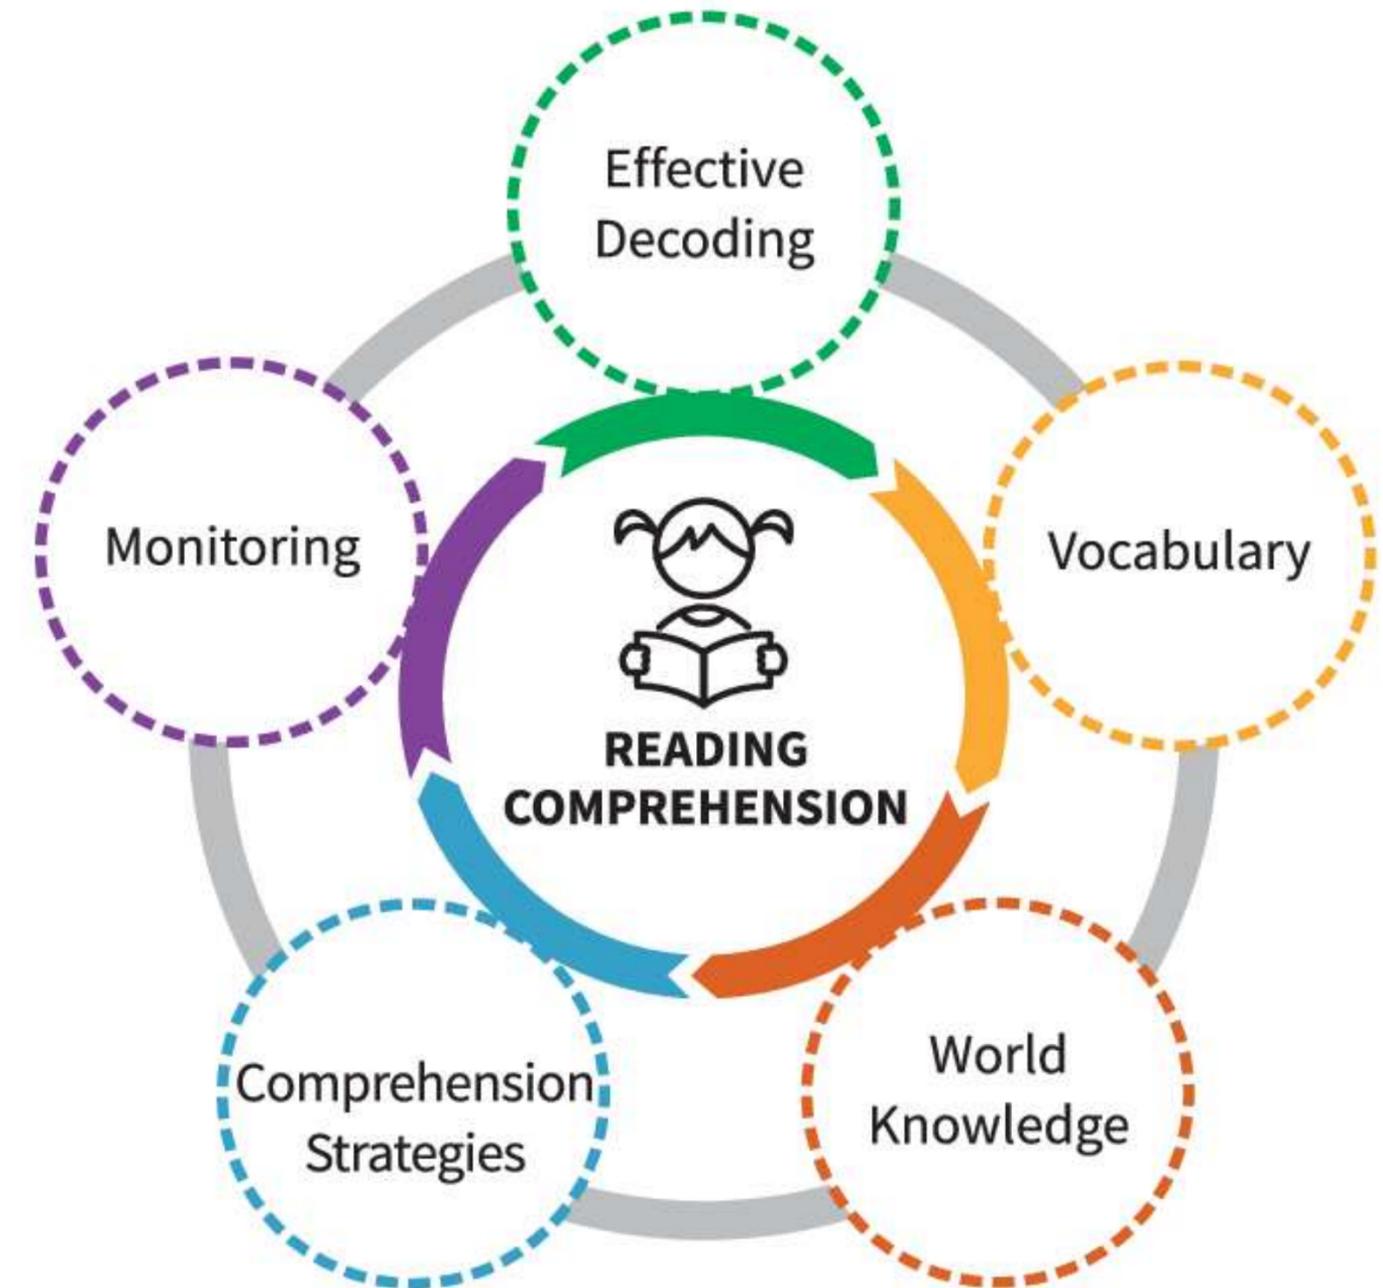

What is Reading Comprehension?

Reading comprehension completes an individual's skill to read. Because this means that an individual is able to understand the meaning of the text correctly.

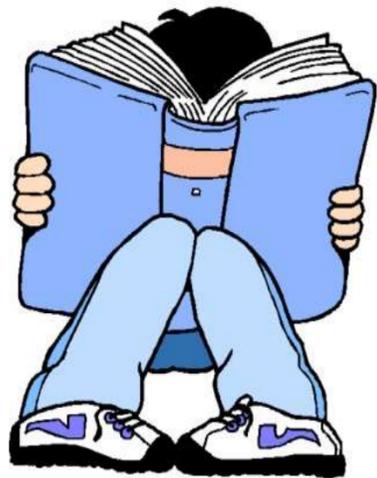

Types of Reading Techniques

Intensive– This type of reading is structured and leads to better retention of information. It is widely used to improve the English comprehension of school students.

And mostly requires a teacher-led classroom for these age groups.

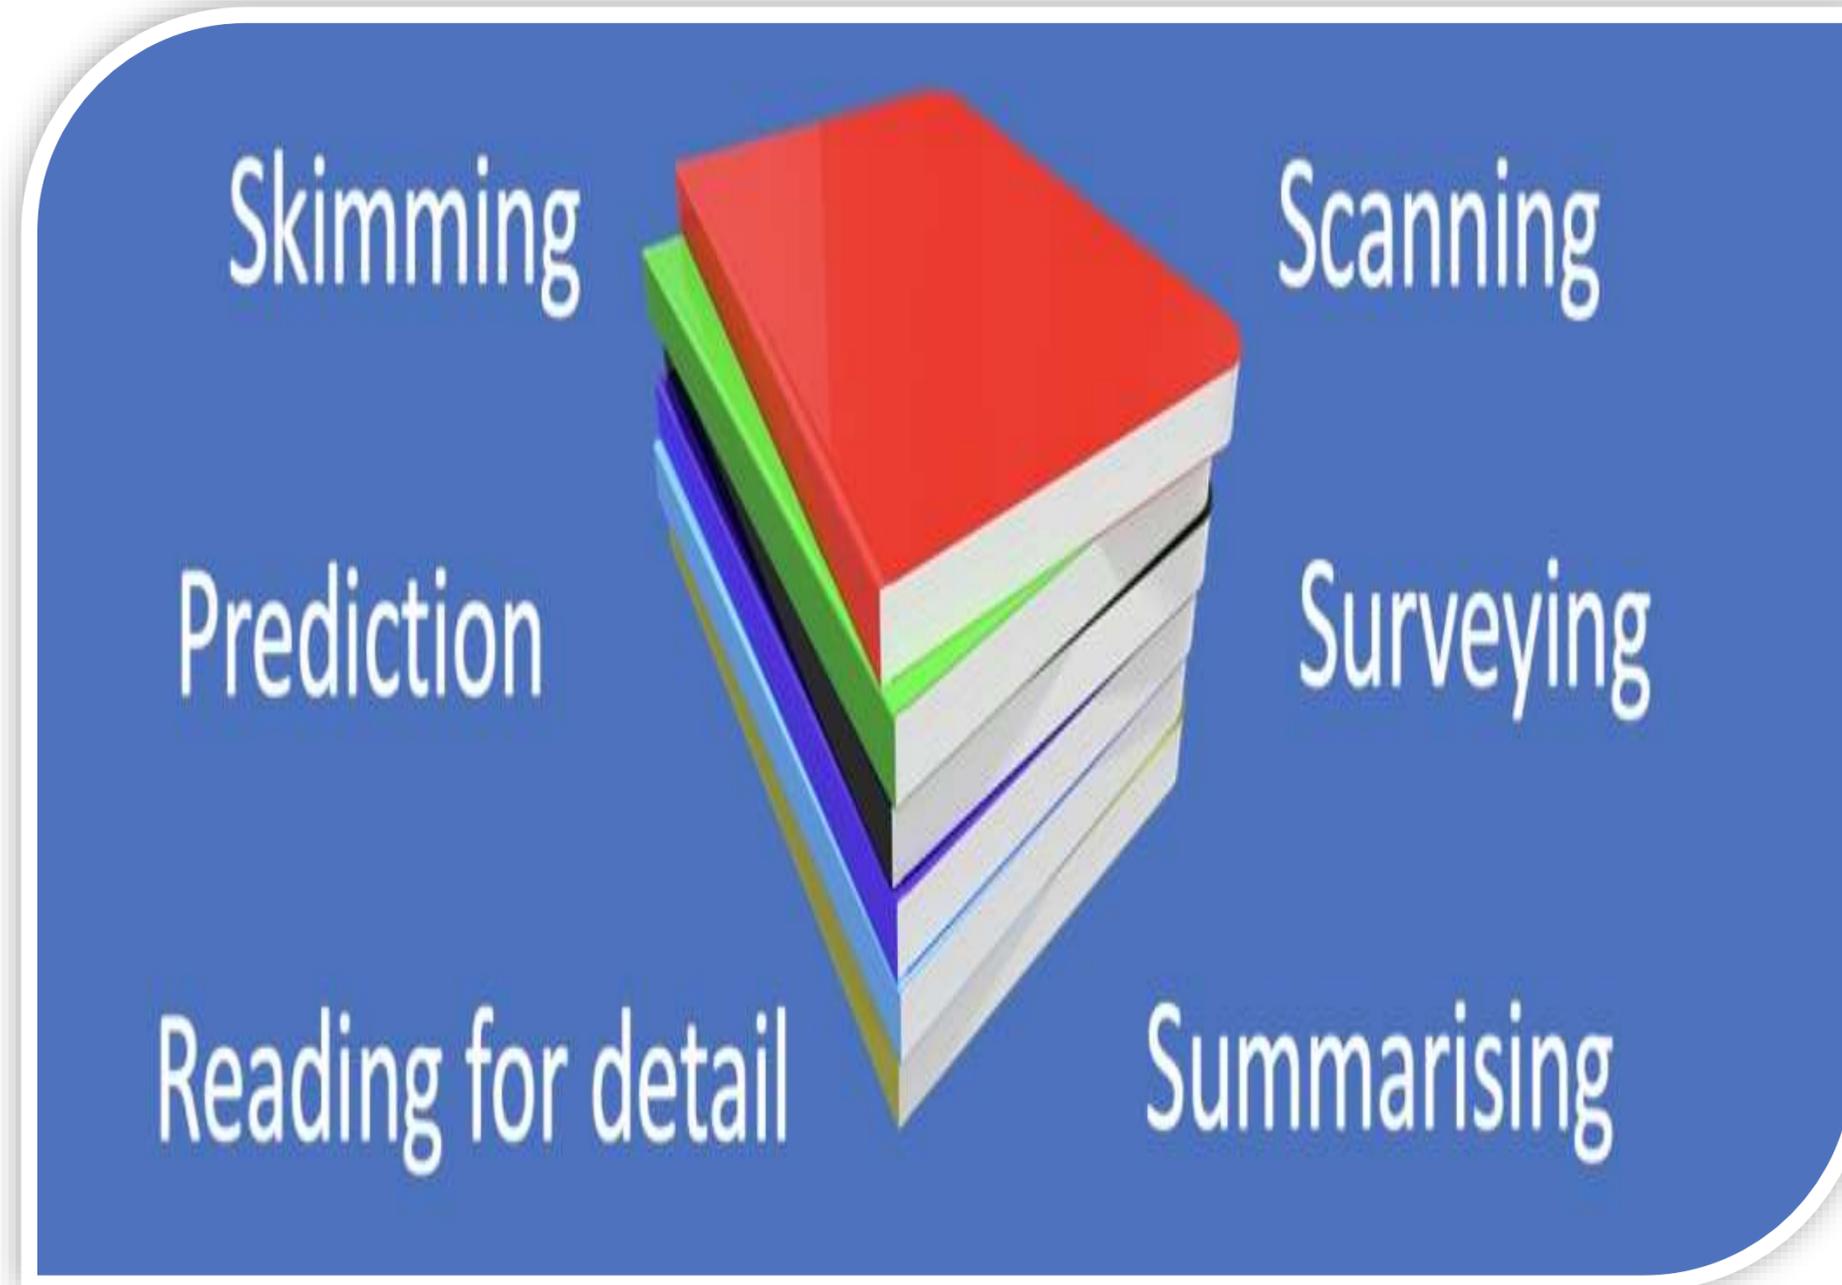

Extensive– It aims at creating a broader understanding of the written text, mostly for educational purposes only.
