Introduction to Attitudes

Definition

Attitudes are evaluative statements, either favorable or unfavorable, about objects, people, or events.

Components

- Cognitive (beliefs, thoughts)
- Affective (feelings, emotions)
- Behavioral (intentions, actions)

Importance

Attitudes guide behavior and influence decision-making, making them crucial for understanding individual and organizational performance.

Dr. Maharajan K, ASP/MBA/SNSCT

Formation of Attitudes

Direct Experience

Attitudes are often formed through personal interactions and encounters with the attitude object.

Indirect Experience

2

З

Attitudes can also develop through observing others, reading, or hearing about an attitude object.

Social Influence

Attitudes are shaped by the beliefs, values, and behaviors of reference groups and authority figures.

Measurement of Attitudes

Likert Scales

Respondents indicate their level of agreement or disagreement with a series of statements.

Semantic Differential Scales

Respondents rate an attitude object on a series of bipolar adjective scales.

Projective Techniques

Indirect methods that involve ambiguous stimuli to reveal underlying attitudes and beliefs.
